

THEY'RE ON TO HIM

Kolasinski's Followers Take a Tumble.

HIS "BISHOP" WAS NO BISHOP

And His Ignorant Dupes Are Wild About It—The Jig Is Up With Kolasinski.

DETROIT, June 6.—The Poles who followed from St. Albert's church when Bishop Borgess excommunicated Fr. Kolasinski are wild with rage today. Their new church, towards the erection of which they have contributed liberally from miserable wages, was dedicated yesterday with great pomp and ceremony. It was a large day for Kolasinski. He marshaled his hosts and marched them forth. Six brass bands accompanied them. Hundreds of men publicly avowed their allegiance to him. Pretty children did him homage. Little girls in white and small boys in blue array expressed in a way more telling than words their love for the priest.

But everything looks blue for Fr. Kolasinski today, for it is leaked out some way that the dedicatory services yesterday were not performed by a regular bishop, but by an irregular clergyman, who, like Kolasinski, has been fired from the Catholic church. The succeeding Poles are angry, and it will require an enormous amount of diplomacy on the part of Kolasinski to longer keep them under his wing. Threats were openly made today by the indignant followers of the ex-priest, and it is not improbable that Fr. Kolasinski will find it expedient to take a trip to his old camping ground in the west until the wrath of his spiritual children over the exposure of their idol's duplicity shall have in a measure subsided.

Fr. Buysse's Return.

JACKSON, Mich., June 6.—The Rev. Fr. Buysse, pastor of St. John's church, returned from a three months' tour in the old world tonight. The whole town turned out to welcome him. The good old man was so overcome with emotion at the spontaneous manifestations of affection which greeted him on every side that he could only smile his appreciation on the sea of happy faces. Churchmen and men who have no creed wed in expressing their delight at the return of the venerable priest, whose hair has been whitened and the best years of whose life have been spent in alleviating the sorrows of the living, soothing the pains of dying, and by precept and example pointing the way to a better world. No bishop, priest or layman was ever before in the city accorded such a genuine, heartfelt, whole-souled welcome as that given Fr. Buysse tonight.

Slugged a Hollander.

GRANDVILLE, June 6.—The past week has been quite exciting; two trees struck by lightning, the frame of a cottage moved five feet from its site by the wind, a successful dance and two fights. Saturday night three young men, Frank Corey, Low Talcott and John Keat, while in the saloon at Jenkins, took a bottle of whiskey from a Hollander named Sawman, who became angry and drew a knife. The boys left the saloon and soon after Sawman followed. When Sawman reached the bridge at Buck creek the boys layd and beat him badly about the head and face. The affair cost them $25 in justice court.

A Rough and Tumble Street Fight.

Young Wife Goes Mad.

JACKSON, Mich., June 6.—About two months ago the village of Concord was all smiles and rejoicing at the marriage of pretty Alice Goodrich, daughter of the Hon. Levi N. Goodrich, to Herbert Bacon of Grand Rapids, but formerly a Jackson county boy. The bride of two months has been taken to the Kalamazoo asylum. Nothing could be sadder or more pathetic. Her insanity takes the form of melancholy, and her relatives are now convinced that her mind was partially unbalanced at the time of her marriage, on which occasion she expressed great sorrow at her lack of beauty and complained at the incompleteness of her trousseau which was very elaborate, and her handsome appearance was the admiration of all her friends. The physicians express but slight hopes of her recovery.

Where Was His Wife?

DETROIT, June 6.—John Manquer, a grocer living at No. 678 Hastings street, reported to the police yesterday that he had in his trousers pocket $102. When he arose yesterday morning the pocket was empty and the money missing. He reported to the police that the thief had entered through a rear window as the only means by which an entrance could have been effected. Detective Tschelbort went to the house to investigate and found the thief had certainly not entered by the window indicated. The soft mud outside the window showed no tracks, the sill was perfectly clean and a table full of dishes just inside the window was undisturbed. Altogether the case is rather mysterious.

His Wife Is Willing.

MANSFIELD, Mich., June 6.—Susan Wallace is a jail and will remain there until the next term of circuit court because she won't agree to contribute a specified weekly amount towards the support of a 4-year-old boy who calls Jennie Green, a young woman who owns no wedding ring, his mamma. Wallace admits that she became the father of the child five years ago, and ran away to Montana, where he says he was married and has a family. He acknowledged the child and wanted to take it back to Montana to his wife. He says his wife is willing to help take care of it and love as one of her own.

When the Buttons Come Off.

Marshall has 'em—not bad—but is likely to spread, as it is said to be contagious—those new fangled ladies' suspender skirts. Of course, if one likes them, they like them, and we have no disposition to disparage them, nor to say ought against the ladies wearing them. But we just want to say to those ladies that they never will appreciate suspenders until the buttons begin to come off and they have to use an eight-ponny nail or a three-inch bolt to connect the suspender with the lower garment on the hypothesis—of course—that the skirt fills the same office for the woman that trousers do for a man.—Marshall Chronicle.

Fingers and Wits Gone.

MUSKOGEE, Mich., June 6.—Andrew Larson, employed in Alberts & Rosenberg's shoe mill, North Muskegon, had two fingers badly mangled by a saw that it was necessary to amputate them.

Wibbe Hazenkamp has been adjudged insane by the probate court, and with Adam Born of Montague, will be admitted to the asylum as soon as room is made.

Will Disgrace 'Em.

Democratic organs are doing their utmost to create the impression that there is to be a row at the republican convention. This is natural, but it will not be realized. The rivalry at Minneapolis will be of a friendly character and the result will be accepted by all republicans with a degree of harmony that will disgrace the democracy.—Saginaw Courier-Herald.

Two Deaths at Bay City.

BAY CITY, June 6.—Mrs. George F. Hood, a prominent lady in the Congregational church and an old resident, died yesterday of dropsy of the heart after a short illness.

Finished Their Labors.

GRANDVILLE, Mich., June 6.—The closing exercises of the state meeting of Michigan Free Baptists were largely of a devotional character, three discourses being delivered during the day and evening. A farewell service followed by a praise and social meeting preceded the final adjournment Sunday night.

Generous Gift.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., June 6.—Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Van Deusen, donors of Kalamazoo's new public library, have given a lot worth $2,500 to St. Luke's Episcopal church, provided $15,000 more be raised for the erection of a parish house. A movement is on foot to accomplish the project.

Reports of the Doings of the Michigan (allopathic) State

by the Author of Them

"After the Mayor's address President Ranney introduced the venerable Dr. N. S. Davis of Chicago, distinguished medical author and the founder of the American Medical Association and ex-President of the International Medical Congress. (See Detroit Free Press, May 6, third page, first column.)

"Dr. Davis spoke for several minutes in a general way, and dwelt upon the advantage of making use of every minute's time during the convention."

"Dr. Davis of Chicago read an interesting and instructive paper upon 'Therapeutic Inconsistencies in Medical Practice,' in which he advised the total abandonment of stimulants and narcotics in all diseases, claiming that the bad effects of them more than equaled the seeming betterment of a patient's condition immediately after their use."

Dr. Davis was roundly applauded for his scholarly and pointed way of handling his topic."

A DIGRESSION—THE PICKPOCKETS HAVE IT.

How nice it would sound, if 400 professional pickpockets should meet in a large hall and the oldest of their number (and too old to pick pockets with safety) should get up and say:

"Gentlemen, it is very wrong to pick pockets," and the others say with one voice:

"Yes, it is very wrong."

Old Member—"It is very wicked to pick pockets, gentlemen."
